Help finding ants.....

I knocked over my son's ant farm. He's very attached to these ants so I need someone to come help me find them all and put them back into the farm. They're running around everywhere. I wouldn't let me son take the farm with him to his dad's this weekend and now I've spilled them all over. He is going to kill me. I need to do this before he gets home tonight.

RESPONSE FROM TINA

It's a waste of money to pay someone for this, sadly this is a game of time. Put something sweet in the middle of the room on top of a paper and wait... You will get the majority of the ants to come. It has to be easily accessible.

ME > Ok I will try that...

15 MINUTES LATER . . .

ME > Something horrible happened... I stuck my hand in a jar of jelly to smear on the wall in my son's room and when I tried to pull it out it got stuck. I keep pulling and I got it out but the jar went flying and broke and there is jelly EVERYWHERE. the couch, the floor, the carpets, the walls, THE CEILING. The ants are going insane.

TINA > Damn man...I guess I should have given more explicit instructions. I feel bad for you seriously... all that extra cleaning - I mean I hope something good comes of it.

ME

MY SON IS GOING TO BE HOME IN AN HOUR AND I JUST TRIPPED AND STEPPED ON LIKE 40 ANTS.

TINA > You might just have to make the trip to the store man...shit is not looking up... I mean 40/200 is nothing, think he will notice?

ME > I don't know. I'm trying to lure them back into one spot, and they're scrambling everywhere.

ME > So, I was trying to clean up the jelly and I spilled a bowl of water and I think I drowned some more...like a lot more. I don't even know how many ants I've killed at this point, But he WILL notice. The ant farm was a gift from his dad. He's going to think I did this on purpose.

TINA > Damn....damn!!!! You gotta replace that shit! Take it easy though, keep a cool head.

ME > You're right, I need to get my chakras aligned. I'm going to put on headphones and play some meditative music while I vacuum up the dead ants. I need to hide the evidence and then I will get back to the live ones once I'm done.

10 MINUTES LATER . . .

ME > shit shit shit shit shit shit shit

TINA > What happened?

ME > It's really bad.

TINA > ???

ME > Hi. So I'm on my third glass of wine. Not only did I vacuum up about a hundred more ants, who even knows at this point, but right before I go to unplug it I hear this loud, 'vwoop' sound, right? Turn around and realize the vacuum hose is plugged up with something so it's making this crazy noise. I pull it out of the wall and take out the bag and open it. Most of the ants are dead. I'm able to find maybe ten live ones. So I go back into my son's room to put them into the farm. What do I see? His gerbil's cage is knocked over....

TINA > Wow... gotta replace that mother fucker too!!!!
Damn, I honestly feel for you...

Why don't you make the story like the gerbil got out and by the time you realized it, you saw the ants everywhere and you began to panic... one hell of a Friday night...

ME > One hell of a Friday night.
