

Things I wrote down in a notebook (Cosas que anoté en un cuaderno)

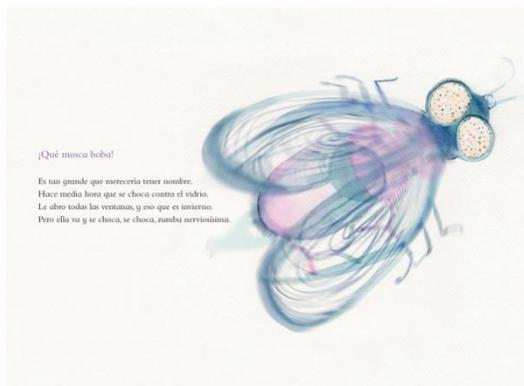

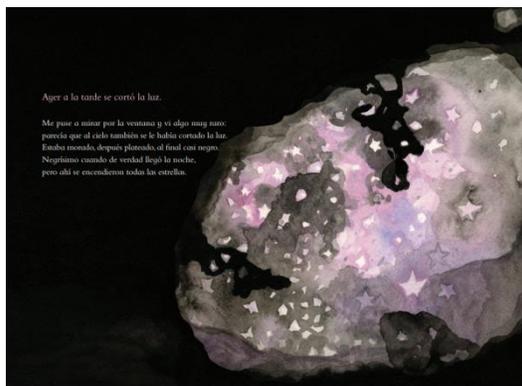

Laura Wittner and Ana Paula Méndez, Planta Editora, 2019

15x22, rustic, 32 p.

A schoolbook label announces "Things I wrote down in a notebook". Next, an explosion of colour. Such is the beginning of the great little trip that will join together Laura Wittner's deliberate distractions and Ana Paula Méndez's drawings.

Laura invites us to watch the world with her for a while. Her eyes, wild though precise, linger over those details most of us overlook: the smooth stroke of a pen, a "silly" fly who can't seem to find the open windows, delicious feasts to be eaten through smell, spinach alfajores, a blackout sky, namesake cats, the extravagance of an artichoke and the pigeon's right to perch on balconies –among other beautiful things.

About the authors

Laura Wittner was born in Buenos Aires, Argentina, in 1967. She studied Literature in Buenos Aires University and in New York University. She works as an author and translator. In 1985 she published the collection of narratives Pintado sobre una jaula and in 1996 her first volume of poems, El pasillo del tren. Since then, she has published more than 20 books, among narrative, poetry and children's literature, received several prizes and was translated into English, Portuguese, German and French. She lives in Buenos Aires.

Ana Paula Méndez was born in Tres Lomas, Argentina, in 1978. As an artist and drawer, she is interested in the crossing of disciplines, such as poetry and visual and performing arts. She works with pencil, watercolor, collage, Indian ink and embroidery. She gives illustrated books workshops and is part of Galería Mar Dulce and Granada Gallery. She lives in Buenos Aires.

About Planta Editora

Planta Editora is a publishing house devoted to the recovery short stories of well-known writers accompanied with drawings by local artists. Planta supports important writers in the first steps in children and teen literature.

Contact:

plantaeditora.com.ar

Instagram: @plantaeditora

Mail: hola.plantaeditora@gmail.com